NEEDS OF COMPANY C.

Our Brave Volunteers Ask for a Few Necessities. They Need Them As the Texas Needed His Gun—An Appeal to the Ladies of Santa Fe.

Special Correspondence.
Whipple Barracks, July 16, 1898.—It has just come to the knowledge of the members of Company C that Company A. of Albuquerque, lately furnished the ladies of that city with a list of the articles desired by them, which were not found in the commissary and quartermaster department.

Herewith we present to the ladies of Santa Fe a complete account of the items desired by members of Company C. In this connection, it may be said that the boys are actually suffering for want of these necessities and failure to procure them may prove to be considered most reprehensible and a breach of good faith.

One white elephant for a mascot.
One hundred and six close woven wire mattresses.
One hundred and six bedsteads, antique finish, to match with the other furnishings of the quarters.
Two hundred and twelve pillow shams with appropriate inscriptions like: "Angels are Watching Over Thee," "Good Night," "Sleep Tight," "Good Morning," "Do You Use Pear's Soap?" "Early to Bed, Early to Rise," etc. The young ladies will find their spare time most delightfully occupied in this work.

One hundred and six pairs pajamas. Some of the boys are a little old-fashioned and prefer night gowns. Assort the lot.
Twelve crates pumpkin pies.
Six crates ostrich eggs, for making large omelets. The company ostrich has quit laying eggs and is laying off.

Thirty bottles red, white and blue, or patriotic, ink.
Two hundred 2 cent stamps. A convenient way to pack stamps and keep the mail from getting moist, is to place a $10 bill between each layer.

Six porcelain lined bath tubs, and 12 cases condensed milk. Some members of the company have gone two days without their milk baths.
Two thousand pairs, automatic, self-adjustable, extremely durable socks. Everything of a wearable nature must be automatic and self-adjustable because most of the men left their valets at home, thinking that they could secure the services of others here.

There are many other things that we need almost as bad as the above, but do not desire to overwork the ladies of Santa Fe during the hot months.
In case the rainy season sets in at the Philippines by the time Company C gets there, it might be a good idea to forward 100 silk umbrellas. Mr. Van Arsdale will probably contribute 100 pairs of rubber hose to go with the shipment, as a preventive against wet feet.

The requirements of Company C are modest. They don't want the earth.

"ROUGH RIDERS" AND N. Y. WORLD.

Calling a Halt and Giving Facts—How Borrower Came to Serve the Dynamite Gun.

Editor New Mexican.
Tampa, Fla., Camp of 1st U. S. Volunteer Cavalry, Troop I, July 11, 1898.—The officers and men of the "Rough Riders" and particularly of Troop I, are astonished and indignant at the statement which appeared in the New York World, issues of July 3 and 10, that Sergeant Hallett Alsop Borrower was the only man in 2,000 to respond to a call for volunteers to operate the dynamite or gelatine gun used at Santiago.

The facts are as follows: Sergeant Borrower was in this troop and when he left it was according to his own statement, to act as orderly on General Shafter's staff.

Until the expedition had started nobody knew there was a dynamite gun, and consequently no call for volunteers had ever been heard of.

During the night previous to the starting of the Shafter expedition, an order came to the troop for a special detail of two sergeants and four men to operate a rapid fire gun. The men were detailed, waked up, received their orders, packed up and started off, and in the morning the news spread around the troop that Sergeants Reber and Ricketts and four men, among the latter of whom was Borrower, had a rapid fire gun, and the first news the troop had that there was a dynamite gun at all with the expedition came from the World.

To say that Borrower was the only man in 2,000 volunteers to operate a dynamite gun on account of the danger, is incorrect, a rank injustice, and a slur on his comrades, at least half of whom, having at some time been miners and having handled dynamite for years, would use it in a gun with the same indifference to danger that they would in a shaft.

Events in Santiago have shown that the difficulty hitherto has been to restrain the "Rough Riders" from, not using them into danger, and had the opportunity been given, everybody would have volunteered to take an artillery work.

As the large majority of the men composing this regiment are from New Mexico and Arizona, and as the account published by the World might give their friends a wrong impression of their courage, I send this true account so that you may correct a mis-statement which Mr. Borrower himself would be the first to disclaim.

By request of Troop I.

LAW BREAKERS ON THE PECOS.
Thousands of Sheep Pasturing on the Pecos Reserve—Herders Killing Game and Injuring the Timber.

A prominent gentleman, of this city who has returned from a visit to the valley of the upper Pecos river pronounces as a burning shame, the total disregard, some of the men herding sheep in that section have for the rights of others. The tract of land and government reservation, known as the Pecos reserve, is a reserve in name only, as sheep in great numbers are allowed to pasture on the land and the sheep are also denuding many of the trees of their bark. Not content with breaking the laws in this wise, the herders are also engaged shooting game and driving it from the park. The gentleman is not informed as to what official should be notified of the misconduct of these men, but he hopes through the New Mexican to bring the attention of the proper authorities to the outrage in order that a stop may be put to this harmful, unlawful and outrageous proceedings.

Cadets at the N. M. Military Institute.
The county commissioners of Union county have appointed Macario Gallegos as cadet from Union county to the New Mexico Military Institute. The appointee from Santa Fe county is Lafayette Jones, of Cerrillos. The commissioners of the several counties should make these appointments of cadets and alternates as soon as possible. It is important that the appointees should have ample time to prepare for the opening of the school in September. Cadets are required to live in the institute where board, lodging and laundry are provided. In the end, the expenses are perhaps less than in any other kind of school, as there is nothing to justify waste of money, and few opportunities for so doing. The school should secure from the first a liberal patronage.
